

Introduction

Doing business aims at creating benefits for the parties involved in this specific business. History has shown that third parties that are not involved in this business often develop the greatest mastermind ideas to spy out, manipulate and destroy relevant data.

Today, companies, government agencies, public and non-public institutions and organisations are confronted with even faster information flows, a wider scope of instruments to manipulate and seemingly unforeseeable possibilities – all with the end potential to do serious harm.

AGT covers the whole spectrum of security technology in order to maximise its clients' protection level.

It includes single products as well as complex solutions and services all in the fields of IT, telecommunication, physical security devices and border management.

The trust of its clients is the motivation of the AGT staff.

